'Day to day we learn about real things that you do when you work in a business. Sometimes I'll spend my morning creating data bases on Excel, preparing agendas and meeting notes or drafting formal letters and invitations.'

Business is something Valenitina has always been passionate about. She understands and respects the hard work that goes into keeping a business running and making it successful - it's what fascinates her.

Day to day, she learns hands-on business operation skills - from crafting formal letters, running excel sheets, or just taking agenda notes - Valenitina knows that everything she's learning at Whitireia and WelTec will help her get a job in the industry.

"Communication skills is something we work on here, it helps me communicate with clients, team members and it also helps me manage conflict in the workforce".
